Within the ever expanding field of Information Technology the demand for highly skilled network professionals is on the rise. One of the paths for an IT professional to travel toward a promising career in networking is through CCNA certification.

In today’s competitive landscape, employers are increasingly seeking candidates who have already begun working toward advanced certifications. Through our intensive week-long CCNA Boot Camp program, you will take your first step toward obtaining your Cisco CCNA certification.

Our Cisco CCNA Boot Camp is a focused, fast-paced course that provides interactive labs and training using live Cisco routers and switches. By using live equipment, rather than simulators, students gain valuable hands-on experience. This helps in both exam preparation and troubleshooting real-world problems. Many students have found that this experience is invaluable as they move forward in their careers.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?
This course is meant for students and professionals wishing to prepare for their Cisco CCNA certification (exam 640-802). You should have a basic knowledge of networking and one to two years of experience configuring networks. This course also is recommended for any network professional responsible for maintaining Cisco equipment in an enterprise environment.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
• Describe how a network works
• Implement an IP addressing scheme
• Configure, verify and troubleshoot basic router operation
• Perform common administrative tasks on a router
