Twenty years later, the world would be shaken by an even greater war that many attribute to the fallout of the Great Conflict. Many world events during the remainder of the 20th century, including many current events, are a direct result of the war. ## DAVID SHOLTZ: FLORIDA'S NEW DEAL GOVERNOR, 1933-1937

In the depths of the Great Depression, Florida elected an unconventional candidate as governor. David Sholtz was a resident of Daytona Beach who campaigned with hopeful optimism during a time of despair. Brooklyn born of Russian Jewish immigrant parents, Sholtz surprised the state's political establishment to become the 26th governor. Tackling Florida's problems with cheerful confidence, Sholtz's story is one of hope tempered with the social and political realities of the time during a turbulent period in our state's history.

Tuesday, April 3 - Advanced Technology College
Cathy "Rainbow" Tallaeksen

THE TIMUCUA INDIANS - THE LOST TRIBE OF FLORIDA

When the French and Spanish came to Florida in the 1500s, they found it occupied by over 200,000 Timucua Indians. They were an organized nation of over 30 chiefdoms and spoke several dialects. Unfortunately, warfare among the chiefdoms and the Europeans caused the rapid decline of the Timucuan Nation. Lack of immunity to the European diseases contributed greatly to their eventual extinction by the early 1800s. When Spain gave Florida to France in the 1760s, they took several of the Timucua to Cuba, where the last known survivor died in slavery.
